

General Daniel H. Wells who headed the Nauvoo Legion as organized in Salt Lake City.

Used by permission, Utah State Historical Society member of the Church, and enlisted in Captain Gleason's Cavalry of the Nauvoo Legion. Early in life he became a military man of tested natural leadership. He was on guard duty in the City at the time of the assassination of Joseph the Prophet, and for years after; endeavoring to protect the lives and property of the people from mob violence and robbery. He was bugler of the Nauvoo

years after his arrival in the valley, July, 1847, the organization of a militia was commenced among which was the first company of cavalry, Captain George D. Grant, commanding, and Mr. Burton acting as bugler for the company. Early in the following year this company was called into active service by the governor to defend the settlers in Utah County against the hostile Indians. Leaving Great Salt Lake on the evening of February 7, 1850, they traveled all night, arriving at Provo early the following morning, where they found the Indians fortified on the south bank of the Provo River. The Indians stoutly defended their position for three days against the attack of the militia.

Colonel Robert T. Burton

However, on the third day the little company of cavalry, commanded

Add Pictures of David & Ross
Charles Heinrich Wilcken
Wm Madison Wall
Ira Jacob
John Crook